Polen Capital Global Growth Fund Class B Units Investment Report & Fact Sheet

May 2021

Fund Commentary

Global equity markets were mixed in May. In the U.S., market headlines seemed to be dominated by inflation concerns. Meanwhile, other markets like Europe, China, and Japan continued to progress on their vaccine rollout plans and ongoing reopening of their economies. The Polen Capital Global Growth Fund Class B Units (the Fund) declined by 0.58 per cent versus the MSCI ACWI in Australian Dollars which returned 1.35 per cent.

Stock selection within the consumer discretionary sector positively contributed to the monthly return, led by Adidas, Inditex and Nike. For Adidas in particular, the company reported 27 per cent growth in first quarter earnings. Stock selection within the communication services sector and an overweight to the health care sector also contributed to relative results.

Information technology was the largest detractor for the month, and that was due to an overweight position and stock selection, led by Mastercard. An underweight to the financials sector also detracted from relative performance. Within healthcare, shares of Abbott Laboratories declined, likely on expectations for lower demand for Abbott's COVID-19 tests.

We continue to believe that the Portfolio is well-positioned for long-term growth. The secular tailwinds that many of our businesses enjoy seem to have accelerated during the global pandemic, and we think they will persist. And, we view the value propositions of the companies we own as superior. We are pleased with the stable competitive advantages that we believe protect our businesses and the overall earnings growth of the Portfolio.

The Polen Capital Global Growth Strategy* has, over the seventy-seven months to 31 May 2021, delivered a compounded annual return in Australian Dollars of 16.75 per cent, after expenses, out-performing the benchmark by an annual 5.00 per cent. See the information on strategy performance on page 1. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance.
